'Science and Health" a Factor.

The immediate cause of Mrs. Carson's act was her despair at having smuggled already left the Custom House. So I asked her gems past the customs lines when she lisembarked from the North German Lloyd liner George Washington on Monday, and at the publicity which attended her arrest on Tuesday and her arraignment before George J. Smyth, Special Deputy Surveyor, But a contributing factor was the following passage from Mary G. Baker Eddy's book, "Science and Health," which is a lamp unto the footsteps of all Christian "Death is not a stepping stone to life, immortality and bliss. The so-called sinner is a suicide. Sin kills the sinner, and will continue to kill him so long as he sins."

This passage the coroner found deeply Health" which lay on Mrs. Carson's table. It appears on page 203 of the sub-heading, two references to suicide in the whole book. the other being the mention of Judas Is-

Several copies of "The Christian Science Monitor" were also found in the room, but Harrison Osborne, of No. 34 Nassau street, who appeared as Mrs. Carson's counsel before Deputy Surveyor Smyth, said he did not think his client had become a fullfledged Christian Scientist, but she had members of her family were Christian Scientists and that she was deeply interested in the subject and was studying its doctrines.
